Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1400 on Thursday 13 May 2021

UK Outlook for Tuesday 18 May 2021 to Thursday 27 May 2021:
Continuing unsettled and rather cool with showers developing on most days. Each day the showers are likely to be locally heavy with the risk of thunder, perhaps parts of the south most prone to these on Monday. It's likely to be breezy at times too, especially around coastal areas in the west. Temperatures look to remain rather below average across the country, although in any sunshine and lighter winds it will feel quite pleasant. Where winds fall light and skies clear it is still possible we could see some overnight frost in sheltered, prone locations. Perhaps beginning to turn rather more settled toward the end of the period, but this very uncertain at this stage.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.